

Mark Tapley “retired” in 2000 after 26 years in the investment management industry. He began his investment career with JP Morgan, and was latterly Group Chief Investment Officer at WestLB Asset Management, responsible for the investment management of approximately $30 billion from different locations around the world and in a variety of asset classes. During his career he also worked for American Express Asset Management, and for the asset management subsidiaries of New York Life Insurance Company. He edited and was the principal contributor to “International Portfolio Management” published by Euromoney.

He is now Executive Director at the BNP Paribas Hedge Fund Centre, London Business School, and a Visiting Fellow (with Recognized Teacher Status) at Cranfield School of Management, where he leads an elective on fund management. Mark also teaches at several other business schools and has acted as an advisor in legal disputes on investment matters. He is a Director of the UK Society of Investment Professionals and former Chairman of its Professional Development Committee. Meanwhile, he is a non-executive Director of Henderson Eurotrust plc, a UK closed-end fund specializing in European equities, and an investment adviser to Lloyd’s Register.

Mark is a Chartered Financial Analyst of over twenty five years standing, an affiliate of the Institute of Actuaries, and a Fellow of the Society of Investment Professionals. He has an MBA from London Business School and an undergraduate degree in Philosophy and Psychology from Oxford University. He is married, with a son and a daughter.
