

Jane Vessey manages a training company specializing in financial analysis and investment. She has been a visiting lecturer at Cass, the City University Business School teaching classes in asset management and valuation, and is a tutor on Executive Programmes at the London Business School. She also teaches a CFA[®] revision course at ICMA (the business school at Reading University), at Cass and at Said Business School, Oxford. She has written study notes for students taking the CFA examinations which are published under the Pegasus Learning brand name, and taught CFA courses for UKSIP. Jane is an associate at BPP Professional Education where she teaches courses covering investment management and related topics.

Jane graduated in Mathematics from Oxford University and is a CFA charterholder. She has some eighteen years' experience working in the investment industry; she started out as an equity analyst before becoming an investment manager. She was based in London and Tokyo and took responsibility for managing equity portfolios invested in the Japanese and other Asian markets. In 1990 Jane moved to Indonesia and established and ran an investment management operation on behalf of MeesPierson. She took responsibility for all areas of the business, including investment, operations, marketing and administration. Whilst in Asia, Jane was involved in providing training to capital market participants, state officials and teaching at courses provided by local universities.
